

NOT TO LOW BIDDER

But to Audit System Goes G. P. O. Contract

NO TROUBLE FOR STILLINGS

Few Strokes of Pen, Award Is Made to Whom He Pleases, and There Is None to Question His Action—Outsider Offers Deals Below Insider's Figures, but What of It?

Public Printer Charles A. Stillings has made numerous contracts for supplies with firms outside the Government Printing Office.

This should occasion but small wonder, however. The old Audit System, which has quarters in the Government Printing Office, cannot bid on everything; it isn't a whole universe in itself.

This is a tale of desks. Some time during 1907, an eventful year in the history of the Government Printing Office, during which the Public Printer alleged that he was to lower expenses about $80,000, he felt the need of new desks. Possibly these articles of furniture were to be used for the old Audit System, possibly for some of Mr. Stillings' $48,000 executive force, or possibly in some other way.

Outsiders Let In?

This time, Mr. Stillings, or some of his employees—every one who works down in the Government Printing Office is an employee of Charles A. Stillings, as well as an employee of the government—decided they would permit some other bidders besides the old Audit System to try.

It was a most lamentable try, nevertheless. One outside firm, which shall not be named, bid under $1,500 for the desks. It is not known just how many other firms may have offered proposals, but it is known the contract was given to the Audit System for about $1,525.

Mr. Stillings has already said he has made contracts for supplies with the Audit System. He has told one firm he can contract with whomsoever he pleases. But did he ever account for contracts to the Audit System when there were lower bids?

Easy to Award Contracts.

Perhaps Mr. Stillings, the Public Printer, did not care to what firm or individual the contract went. Perhaps he did not even look when he signed the notice of award to The Audit System. Perhaps The Audit System, which has quarters with in the Government Printing Office, does not need to be notified when it gets a contract. For it possibly arranges to get one if it bids and really wants to furnish anything.

How easy it is to award contracts to the old Audit System. The Public Printer needs to do is to take a pencil scratch his name at the bottom of a printed notice of award, and the deal is done.

Hans't Mr. Stillings highly paid clerks to look after the details of awarding contracts—or doing something? Why need he worry about spending the government money? The government gives him about $5,000,000 each year to spend. Why bother with a paltry $1,800?

Truly, the times would be out of joint if a Public Printer like Charles A. Stillings, who is busy binding up his office in a red tape, were to look at everything he signed.

Merry-makers Will Dance.

At the National Rifles' Armory, on next Thursday night, a dance will be given by the Merry-makers' Club. The committee consists of Mr. H. E. Huntzberg, chairman, and Messrs. G. T. Stewart and H. Disney.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

Additions to Membership of Vermont Avenue Church Society.

James M. Pickens, of Press Department, Goes West—Much Good Work in Prisons.

At a recent business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church, six persons were elected to active membership, and two chosen associate members.

B. F. Hallman was elected corresponding secretary, to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of Miss Alice Vancoske, who will soon leave for Seattle, Wash., to make that city her future home. G. J. P. Barger was elected chairman of the prayer meeting committee, to complete an unexpired term. Clarence J. Spiker, president, made the report of the society's mission study class.

James M. Pickens, of the press department, left yesterday for the West, in the interest of the Department of Agriculture.

The new president of the First Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society is Miss Ruth Montague, who takes the place of Ira J. Conduit, past president.

The regular monthly meeting of the Northminster Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society was held last Tuesday evening, at the home of Miss Chum, the president. After the reports of the various committees were heard, the resolutions lately adopted by the citizenship department of the C. E. Union were favorably discussed. A mission study class will be opened early in February to all the members and friends of the society, and is to be conducted by Miss Loomis. At the last Sunday's meeting of this society Herman C. Metcalf, ex-officio of the union, gave a talk, as did also E. G. Wylie.

In the recent move of interested organizations and institutions of the District of Columbia, for a better observance of the Sabbath, the C. E. Union was represented by its vice president, Ray S. Gehr. The object of this movement is to arrange for a general citizens' meeting, and to push legislative action that will make the Sabbath day in the District of Columbia.

Attention is called to the good work that is being done in other cities and our own by means of the work among prisoners in the jails. A model constitution of the Prison Christian Endeavor Society has been formed, and Zed H. Capp, superintendent of the citizenship department of the union, under whose supervision this work falls, will be glad to have such co-operation any societies can give him in the work.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Church of the Covenant was held in the church Friday evening, January 10. Following the business meeting, a musical programme was given, in which the following members took part: W. A. Rogers, Osmond Holmes, and Misses Stowell and Rumsburg, and Mrs. C. M. Davidson.

The Ninth Street Christian Endeavor Society is in its usual active and committee work. The last business meeting was held at the home of Miss Virginia R. Raymond, President Tarring, of the union, visited this society last Sunday evening.

The meeting at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church last Sunday was led by A. A. Charles, secretary of the union. Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor of the church, and Zed H. Capp, of the citizenship department, gave strong talks along the lines of Sunday observance.

The next regular meeting of the Christian Endeavor Union board of officers will occur on Friday evening, January 24. The business meeting of the board at the meeting last Tuesday evening at the First Congregational Church of the members of the Prohibition Crusade League.

Among the speakers were Senator Tiltman, of North Carolina, and the superintendent of the citizenship department of the union.

Secretary Shaw, of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, leaves in a few days on an extended Southern trip. President Francis E. Clark will sail January 24 for the business well represented at the meeting last Tuesday evening at the First Congregational Church of the members of the Prohibition Crusade League.

It is gratifying to the foreign societies that President Clark, founder of Christian Endeavor, will visit their continent. The union hopes to be able to induce Mr. Clark and Mr. Shaw to come here again in May, and if such can be arranged for, much interest will be shown by the Endeavorers of the city.

The Calvary Baptist Christian Endeavor Society has planned great things for the coming year, and a new plan of raising the necessary finance for the year by individual subscription has met with success in that the amount estimated is already subscribed.

All notices for the press department should be received not later than Thursday afternoon.

Contractor Causes Arrest.

Harry Kirsch, twenty-eight years old, who says his home is at 3305 Twenty-first street, Philadelphia, was arrested by Detective Hartigan yesterday afternoon on the charge of grand larceny. The warrant was sworn out by George Bryant, a contractor of Philadelphia, who holds him responsible for the disappearance of several hundred dollars' worth of iron and building material.

Missing Man Wanted.

The police have been requested to locate John S. Henderson, twenty-nine years old, reported as missing from his home, 690 M street southeast, since Wednesday morning.

Excursions.

The splendid service maintained by the Norfolk and Washington steamer is a constant reminder to tourists at all seasons of the year. Many avoid a long, tiresome all-rail journey South by making the trip between this city and Norfolk via the steamer. The convenient rail connections at both places entailing no loss of time. The daily sailing hour is 8:30 a. m., the trip requiring about two hours, with landings at Old Point, as well as Norfolk, both going and returning.

In their appointments these boats stand favorable comparison with any in service in the last construction embracing every device that can contribute to the safety, comfort, and convenience of the passengers. The boats are lighted and steam heated, and the cabins excellent. Tickets are located at Seventh street wharf and at 705 North street, first floor of the Colorado Building.

RECTORYS FAVOR

Rev. J. Henning Nelms Makes Good Impression.

AN ADDRESS BY REV. DR. SMITH

Rector of St. Margaret's Church Heard at St. Thomas' on Thursday Evening, the Occasion of the Daughters of the King's Visitation. Bishop Satterlee in New York.

The Rev. J. Henning Nelms made a decidedly good impression last Sunday, when he began work as rector of the Pro-Cathedral Church of the Ascension. His own congregation turned out in full force, and there were many from other churches, also some of the clergy who felt they could be spared, among them Rev. J. G. Ames and the Rev. E. H. Ingie.

Mr. Nelms is not the successor of Rev. Dr. Elliott, but of the Rev. Clement Brown. Dr. Elliott resigned the rectorship of Ascension Church in 1903, being succeeded by Mr. Brown, who had previously served as assistant without salary. Until Dr. Elliott's death Mr. Brown served the parish without money and without price, his full salary going to the support of his retired predecessor. Nor did Mr. Brown's self-sacrificing generosity terminate with Dr. Elliott's death. He still continued to be a most generous benefactor of the parish until his resignation of the rectorship last spring. Since then he has been traveling in Europe.

The beautiful weather, combined with the prospect of an interesting address from Dr. Herbert Scott Smith, rector of St. Margaret's Church, and the advantage of meeting at a church centrally located, drew a large and unusual number of the King for their visitation. Members came from all parishes in which the order is represented. Even the "baby chapter," that of St. Thomas' Croom, at the lower end of Prince George's County, sent a representative.

The address of Dr. Smith on the work of the home department of Sunday school work was a model in its way. It was, to begin with, well prepared; next, it was logically arranged and well delivered. Naturally it accomplished its purpose, which was to tell the audience that a great deal more about the home department than it knew before.

A meeting of the trustees—i. e., the Cathedral Chapter—of the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul was held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The bishop of the diocese presiding, when the subject was made to the constitution, by which the examining chaplains of the diocese should be ex-officio members of the Cathedral Chapter. By virtue of this action, Revs. G. F. Dudley, William Morgan-Jones, F. R. Howden, and E. S. Munroe became members of the chapter. Dr. Devries, chairman of the examining board, being already a member, by election of the chapter, having been nominated by the bishop.

Bishop Satterlee was in New York, Tuesday, attending a meeting of the board of missions. The board is composed of fifteen bishops, fifteen other clergymen, and fifteen laymen. The laymen are such men as Admiral Mahan, George C. Thomas, and George Wharton Pepper.

The board chose Bishop Albion W. Knight, missionary bishop of Cuba, in place of Bishop Satterlee, commissary of the presiding bishop, to make an Episcopal visitation to the Canal Zone, in charge of Archdeacon H. B. Bryan, vicar general.

Distribution of the men's thank offering was made by the committee on missions, pro rata, at a time when the church's missionary operations are, as a matter of course, keenly feeling the money stringency. Owing to our widely accepted ideas as to where the duty of economizing begins, every ten years had many a veritable godsend; without them, work would cease in many places.

Yesterday, for example, the committee of the aged and infirm clergy of the diocese met. A session was not encouraging—no funds.

Our bishops are already receiving numerous invitations to preach in England on the occasion, or rather occasions, of the Lambeth Missionary Congress and the Pan-Anglican Conference next June and July. Bishop Satterlee has now engagements to preach at Birmingham Cathedral, June 20; Southwark Cathedral, July 5, on the occasion of the opening of the new organ chamber; also at Lichfield and other places.

Bishop Paret, when he came back to the diocese after his first visit as a bishop to the Pan-Anglican Conference, which means every ten years, had many an interesting incident to tell about, and, among others, this apropos of Bishop Satterlee's engagements to preach.

The bishop said that everywhere he went he could see large posters on churches to this effect: "The third bishop of Washington will preach in this church next Sunday morning." That was before there was a diocese of Washington, when the diocese of Maryland was a part of the diocese of Maryland, and when, therefore, if there was a lord bishop of Washington, Bishop Paret was that bishop. Yet he was not the preacher of the posters.

It appears that away off on the Pacific Slope there was a bishop of Washington Territory, and it was this bishop of the English clergy were inviting to their parish churches and cathedrals, with the idea that he was the bishop of the Capital of the United States.

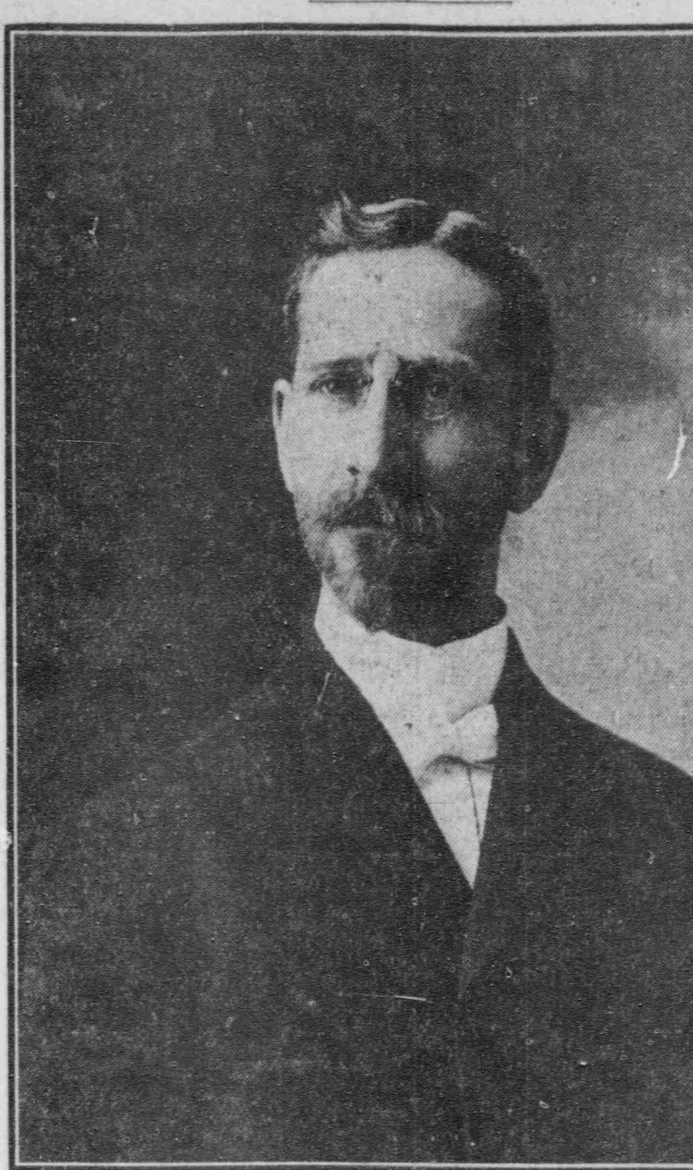

Since then, intentionally or otherwise, there is no "bishop of Washington" on the Pacific Slope. There are two bishops there, but neither when he goes to London will be mistaken for the bishop of our Capital City, one being called bishop of Olympia and the other bishop of Spokane.

It was the unanimous opinion of the former rectors of All Saints' Church, St. Mary County, who met at the bishop's house Saturday, January 11, to consider the question of the future site of the parish church, that the rebuilding of the old church is inadvisable, because of its being so inconvenient of access. It was moreover felt that it would be equally inadvisable for the same reason to erect a church on the ridge, with an additional disadvantage there of having swampy conditions to contend with.

Another site was therefore selected for recommendation to the vestry, easily accessible and in line with the present development of the population, a site, which possesses this great advantage, that should there be some day a reincorporation of All Saints' Parish into the original King and Queen parish, it would be the most satisfactory location of any, both for church and rectory.

At St. Mark's Church Parish Hall, Third and A streets southeast, there is to be on Monday at 8 p. m. a general meeting of the local assembly, Brotherhood of St. Andrew. Chaplain Pierce will be the speaker.

WASHINGTON PASTORS—LI

REV. PAUL A. MENZEL.

Pastor of the Concordia Church, Twentieth and G Streets Northwest. Was born in Chicago, January 27, 1863. His father died when he was eight years old, so his training and early schooling in the higher branches of learning devolved upon his stepfather, who was also a clergyman in the city and vicinity of Chicago.

At the age of fourteen, Mr. Menzel began his college course at Elmhurst, Ill., and four years later entered the Eder Theological Seminary, at St. Louis, where he was graduated in 1886. He was ordained in August of that year, but before assuming pastoral labors, he spent another year of study at the universities of Berlin and Tuebingen, Germany.

Mr. Menzel is a member of the German Evangelical Synod, of North America, and has served three congregations as pastor: St. Martin's, of Annapolis Md.; United Evangelical Church, of Canton, Baltimore, and came to Concordia Church, this city, in 1896, where prosperity has been enjoyed under his charge.

Services of a most solemn and impressive nature, in honor of the Feast of the Holy Name, which all the Holy Name societies of the District will attend, will be held in St. Dominic's Church to-morrow evening.

The sermon will be by the Very Rev. Father C. H. McKenna, O. P., of New York City, one of the most illustrious preachers of the Order, who organized the Holy Name Society of St. Dominic's Church, and founded innumerable societies of the Holy Name in many cities throughout the United States.

Father McKenna was empowered by the Minister General of the Dominican Order in Rome especially for this work, and has been most successful in establishing Holy Name societies in every diocese.

The rapid growth of these organizations must be going gratifying to the venerable preacher, who, now in his seventy-second year, returns to Washington to witness, on the Feast of the Most Holy Name, the excellent results of his labors in this city.

Solemn Vespers, at 7:30 p. m., sung by the Prior of St. Dominic's, of the Very Rev. Father T. P. O'Rourke, O. P., will be followed by Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Rev. Father R. A. La Plante, O. P., will preach the sermon. Rev. Father Eugene Del. McConnell, S. J., will preach at the vesper service, 7:30 p. m.

The pastoral feast will be appropriately commemorated to-morrow evening, in the Church of the Holy Name, by the celebration of solemn high mass.

The choir will render a musical programme of special merit during the mass and at vespers.

The new church at Seat Pleasant Heights, Chesapeake Junction, will be dedicated to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, by the Very Rev. Father A. P. Doyle, C. S. P., rector of the Apostolic Mission House, assisted by Rev. Father C. M. Hart, pastor of St. Thomas' Church, Annapolis, and Rev. Father Albert Smith, of the Apostolic Mission House.

The church will be solemnized by Rev. Father Bart, the choir of St. Thomas' Church, Annapolis, will render the music.

Rev. Father Doyle will preach the sermon. Father Hart, who has been pastor of the new church since its opening, will deliver the address. The church has been formed, extends to the Catholics of Washington, and to the general public, a cordial invitation to attend the dedication.

Rev. Father Carroll Smyth, of St. Mary's Star of the Sea, Baltimore, brother to Rev. Father James A. Smyth, of St. Patrick's, and Rev. Father T. G. Smyth, of St. Stephen's Church, this city, will preach in St. Patrick's Church at the vesper service, 7:30 p. m. to-morrow.

The sermon at the high mass, 11 a. m., will be by Rev. Father James A. Smyth.

A meeting, proposed and arranged by the men of St. Patrick's congregation, will be held in the hall to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Business of importance will be discussed, and a large attendance is expected.

To-morrow will be Communion Sunday for the Holy Name Society of St. Matthew's, St. Joseph's, St. Theresa's, St. Vincent de Paul's, and the Church of the Holy Comforter.

The League of the Sacred Heart will receive Holy Communion in St. Matthew's, and in the Church of the Holy Comforter.

It is Communion Sunday for the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary in St. Stephen's and in St. Theresa's Church.

Rev. Dr. Henry Sauvage, C. S. C., professor of apologetics, Holy Cross College, has resumed the chair of St. Patrick's for the young men of St. Patrick's Parish.

This excellent course, conducted each Sunday morning in St. Patrick's Academy, treats of the history of the church and its progress. The gratifying attendance would indicate that the result must surely be accomplished for which the course was planned—fitting young men to answer intelligently, from a scriptural, historical, or doctrinal point of view, all attacks on religion.

Rev. Father Joseph F. McGee will preach at the last mass to-morrow in the Shrine of the Sacred Heart.

McConnell Discoveries in Vital Force

Make An Entirely New Science.

Mrs. Roscoe Jenkins, of 639 8th Street N. E., City, Cures Indigestion and Headaches of Seven Years' Standing in a Few Days.

Suppose we never had a science of chemistry and some scientist should discover the laws of chemistry. This would make many things possible that had been impossible.

Mr. McConnell has devoted years to the study of the nature and laws of vital force. He has founded a new science.

He claims that all chronic disease and age weakness and low spirits come from low vital production—that an invalid and an old person simply do not produce enough vitality to be well. He has proven that any one may increase his vital production and cure himself in one to eight weeks.

Mrs. Jenkins came to the Life Electricity Institute, 1116 F street northwest, city, ten days ago. Now she says she has cured indigestion and headaches of seven years' standing.

Mr. McConnell believes in measuring a work by its fruits. All types of invalids are curing themselves simply by studying the nature of vital force and its increase.

This is the greatest discovery of science or nothing at all. See those who try it and find if its claims are true. This new science can be taught by mail. Explatory lectures are given, 11 a. m. each day. Classes, 11 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

Mr. McConnell begins a class in the First Methodist Protestant Church, 518 Fourth street southeast, Monday, 8 p. m. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Trull, says this new science should be taught in every school and college.

Mr. McConnell is also invited to lecture on his discoveries Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Severance, 1431 Chapin street northwest. The public is invited.

Y. M. C. A. MINSTRELS GOOD.

Show Introduced Excellent Talent. Given Pleading Appliance.

There was a minstrel show at the Young Men's Christian Association, G street, near Eighteenth, northwest, last night.

Perhaps some of the audience are laughing yet. The end men were funny. No one tried to spring any "which was the first, the hen or the egg?" joke, and most everybody could sing.

"All Mouth" Chaskey sang a song he called "Every little bit taken from what you got, leaves just a little bit less." He gave encores until his voice deserted him, and was never found, although the show halted to let everybody hunt.

A boy who didn't look like he could have seen more than six summers, but who, the press agent says, is ten years old, named Dewey Nunn, sang "I'm going to be a doctor."

ing to lead a different life," and the audience made him repeat the declaration several times.

"Green Peas" Lovell stepped in with a catchy song entitled "When I can't eat chicken, I'm sick." He won his way with the audience. In fact, everybody received numberless encores. It was a good show. What is called the "big show" of the circus, will be given by members of the Y. M. C. A. January 27.
